The speech making after the luau was postponed for a time in order that Governor might drive out to the Knudsen home for a call. A confer-ence was also held during the afternoon with several leading citizens of Waimea over road board and other local matters. Returning to Waimea at six o'clock the Governor and Mr. Atkinson spoke to the people. Some 200 voters assembled:

"You people of Waimea have given me one of the best receptions I have ever enjoyed," said the Governor, "because there are so many Hawalians here. When I am away from the is-lands I feel shy, which is a characteristic of the Hawalians. You never see one who thrusts himself forward where he is not wanted. Feeling this way we ought to get on together. The problems we have to face in Hawaii require study and are to be solved by my duty every year to make a trip to if you are taking a greater interest in the government. The result was that in fourteen days they passed fourteen bills and cut the appropriations fifty per cent. #### DANCE AND RECEPTION.

At eight a reception and dance was given in the hall at Waimea, at which there was a large turnout of the people of the three voting precincts of Hanapepe, Kekaha and Waimea.

FRIDAY MORNING AT HANALEL At six o'clock the party boarded the W. G. Hall, which had been specially detailed for this service and took the trip along the wonderfully picturesque coast to Hanalei-past the palis and gulches of Waimea, Mana, Nuololo, Kalalau, the old valley of refuge for the lepers, Hanakoa, where Mr. W. Kinney has a coffee ranch, Hanakaplai, another coffee district, and Haena Point where the famous caves are located. Haena also is a rich ground for the old Hawaiian folk lore-some of Pele's most exciting romance being centered here. Wainiha was passed where an electrical power plant is contemplated which if completed is expected to generate 5,000 horse-power. Then comes Hanalel valley where a landing was made, followed by a reception and luau. Following the coast from Waimea to Hanalei there was an excellent chance to see the picturesque shore. Mr. Kinney acted as guide and pointed out path will be the right path, but often all the interesting points. The valley which was for a time the refuge of the noted leper outlaw, in the early nineties, was one of the points which received particular attention.

Approaching the landing at Hana-lei a crowd awaited the Governor's arrival, including the school children each with an American flag-and two large United States and Hawaiian

The reception committee at Hanalei was composed of S. Kalli, C. H. Willis, E. Kuapuhl, Joseph Gardner, N. Kaheleiki and C. B. Makec. On the decoration committee for the luau was Willie Wuner while Deputy Sheriff J. K. Lota took care of the food.

At the luau, people were present from Wainiha, Lumahai, Hanaleauka, Wanini, Kalihikai and Kalihiwai, numbering several hundred in all.

CARRIED ON BOAT-MEN'S BACK.

The whaleboats in which the party made the trip along the picturesque coast were beached at Hanalei and the Governor and the rest of the party rode ashore on the shoulders of the brawny boat-men and local longshoreman. The children under the direction of J. C. Davis and Miss Florence Deverill sang patriotic music. The Governor, in response to the demands of the crowd responded in a few words of thanks and appreciation. The party then went over to Mr. A. S. Wilcox's home, where an hour's rest was taken. The party was then driven to the Waloli church, where a lunu was given at noon. The feast was served on the grounds of the church in true native style, on mats, and to the accompaniment of a band of sweet voiced singers who rendered local ballads.

Waioli church is one of the oldest in the islands, dating back for many years. It is built of stone and although the old grass roof has been replaced by tin, it still retains the old shape. The interior was handsomely decorated with flags, ferns and palm branches, Rev. Edward Johnson was one of the early missionaries in charge of the

MAY GO TO WASHINGTON

The Notley will case is likely to be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Chas. Notley, David Notley, Wm. Notley and Marion Hughes by their attorneys, Kinney, McClanahan & Cooper, have filed an amended motion for rehearing of their contest of the will of Charles Notley, deceased, in the Supreme Court. The motion states:

"That the denial of a jury trial to the contestants in this cause, and the preventing of contestants from having uninstructed verdict of a jury Bank has been floating about commercial circles for a week, but it developed into nothing but talk yesterday. There were negotiations entered into for the transfer of the First National Bank to C. M. Cooke, but the price put upon it was not acceptable, and the deal fell through without being submitted to the directors of either bank. The Bank of Hawaii under its charter is not permitted to hold or control any other bank and the combination would have had to be one of stockholders rather than of the corporations. Mr. Cooper of the First National Bank states that no option was given on the First National Bank and none will be given. The National Bank stock has been in much demand during the week as a result of the rumors. on the facts shown in the evidence in this cause, and the directing of a verdict by the court, and the decision of this Supreme Court concerning the same, constitute collectively and separately a taking from the contestants of their property and rights of inheritance as sole heirs at law of Charles Notley without due process of law, and would he depriving them of equal protection The continued stiffening of raw sugar prices has naturally affected the local market considerably, although there has been no responsive action in stocks. Ewa is still selling at par and Hawaiian Commercial is offered at $50 with $40,50 bid. A hundred shares of Kahuku sold for $75,50 during the week and there is lively demand for more at the same figure. There was one sale of McBryde at $500 and the stock is scarce at that price with plenty of buyers in sight. There was a forced sale of 1100 shares of Olaa at a fifty cents decline, but there is no more of the stock to be had at the same figure. Oahu Sugar is weak, selling at $14, due perhaps slightly to the influence of the strike. Ookala add at the lowest figure in the existence, a sale at $5 being recorded. Rapid Transit sold at the during the week. Hawaiian Electric is strong at $60 bid. There was a sale of Wilder Steamship at $177.50. under the law guaranteed them in the Constitution, and is in violation of the constitutional right of the contestants to a trial by jury and to the equal protection of the laws and the right to due process of law in taking prop-erty and rights from them."

The plea of constitutional rights would indicate an intention of appeal-ing to the Federal Supreme Court in the event of denies of rehearing.
